FRIENDSHIP

Installation of a new Japanese government headed by Koki Hirota restores the stability shaken so severely by the recent assassinations. Mr. Hirota's position is of particular interest to the United States.

He has cultivated this country's friendship intensively as Japanese foreign minister. The fact that he served at one time in the Japanese embassy at Washington enables Mr. Hirota to understand the American viewpoint better, perhaps, than some of his countrymen whose lives have been spent in the intensely nationalistic environment of army and political service.

In a speech delivered two years ago to the house of peers, Mr. Hirota made the following statement: "The United States should understand Japan's position in the Orient. Japan should understand America's position, and both countries should face the problems of their relationship with feelings of friendship. Japan will never seek trouble with the United States, and if the United States understands this we can dismiss the idea of a coming emergency. That is the fundamental principle of my policy. Both Japan and the United States should avoid thinking of war as a possible eventuality. We should be convinced that diplomatic negotiations can solve all our problems."

Mr. Hirota's viewpoint is not accepted universally in Japan, it may be said. But neither is the United States unanimously agreed on a Japanese viewpoint. It must hope that its statesmen will be at least as conciliatory in their attitudes as Mr. Hirota seems to be. His leadership of the new Japanese government is a favorable omen of friendship.

"OBJECTION IS HEARD"

It is customary to introduce The Congressional Record with the apologetic declaration that it can be mighty fine reading if one separates the chaff from the grain. Even the chaff can be amusing.

The other day the house of representatives was considering a bill declaring an emergency in housing conditions in the District of Columbia. Rep. Mary Norton of New Jersey, explaining she hoped the gentlemen on the other side would be "sporty" enough to cooperate, laid down the general plan for debate.

Rep. Tom Blanton of Texas, who said he didn't feel "sporty" tangled things up by insisting that the bill be read. The clerk started to read. Thereafter, the following things happened:

No less than eight requests for unanimous consent to stop the reading of the bill were made. No less than three times members of the house were counted. At least four other interruptions in the reading of the bill were made.

Nevertheless, the whole thing was read, which seems to indicate that not even parliamentarians have been able to figure out a way to stop somebody from reading a thing no one particularly wants to hear.

KIND WORD

Ohio's new automobile license plates make a startling contrast on the bespattered cars they adorn—something like a gleaming white standup collar and a crisp new polka dot necktie on an ash collector. The new plates are undeniably handsome, though what they will look like when the freshness is worn off is another matter.

A kind word is in order for the battered black and yellow plates now being discarded after 15 months of service. They never had the dash and sparkle of the new blue and white tags, not even when they were brand new, but in recent years Ohio has had no more practical combination of colors. The highway department long ago discovered that for visibility the combination of yellow and black can't be beaten.

Furthermore, the colors didn't fade, as so frequently happens with brighter combinations, such as the crimson and gray plates of recent memory. Black and yellow didn't show dirt so plainly as lighter colors, either. The combination of circumstances—a new system of enumeration, two practical colors and a 15-month license period—made 1935 a stand-out license plate year in Ohio. When the state chooses its next combination, black and yellow should be considered.

THE STARS SAY

For Saturday, March 14

Although this may be a day of good promise, with important opportunities for large undertakings, especially in connection with "big business," yet there is also danger of misunderstandings, fraudulence or misrepresentation, judging by the predominant planetary influences. There is great need of precaution in reading and signing all writings, papers and documents, as well as a necessity for being wise in the spoken word. Personal integrity is likewise indicated.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of opportunity and promise, with connections with important business interests, which should greatly enhance the financial as well as personal status.

A child born on this day may be talented, ambitious and versatile, but it should be trained to a dependence on principle rather than expediency.

Notable nativity: Thomas Marshall,
vice president U. S. A.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, March 13—Thoughts while strolling: You never think of Graham McNamee with that booming voice being such a little guy. Suggestion: Why not show the name of the artist in a swell window-dressing job? Newest film sweetheart: Anita Louise. Runner up: Joan Marsh.

The poetical prodigy, Nathalia Crane, has grown up to resemble Edna Ferber. I like the English term "a sweet shop." Joan Bennett seems to have turned leader of her talented tribe. Top in juicy Oxford accent: James Allan Mollison, the British flyer.

Looming: Tax strikes. What became of Nick the Greek? Fred Astaire would be a bet for the necktie ad. Endorsers: Bob stories that leave me cold: Those about the sad plight of little Gloria Vanderbilt. None of the explorers suggests the Arctic Circle like Capt. Bob Bartlett.

One of radio's earliest birds is Fred Feibel, who broadcasts organ music from the Paramount theater during sunup hours. For seven years he has been arising at 4:30 a. m. in his Ridgefield Park, N. J., home to reach the studio in time for rehearsal. His day is done at 2 o'clock. He drifted to the organ via violin and piano and only a few years ago took organ lessons. He admits his fingering, although achieving marvelous results, is not according to Hoyle. He is about 30 and cannot play satisfactorily without puffing a big black cigar.

Perhaps the rudest audience gesture in the theater was accomplished at the opening of the ill-fated show Ed Wynn produced recently. The tense moment in a plot that dealt with mercy killing was when a lethal dose was administered. The audience was in breathless suspense when someone perpetrated a loud ankle deep snore. A titter followed, but the players struggled valiantly on. It was believed the jealous contribution of some enemy of a member of the cast.

Moderns do not always flock to the jazzier shrines of hotelism. There is, for instance, The Gotham, one of the sedate establishments in on the avenue. Its manner is strictly mid-Victorian, richly aristocratic and leisurely. Lavender and old lace ladies who circle the park in jewel-box, horse-drawn closed carriages live there. Also the crispy white mustachied late afternoon loungers of club windows. But The Gotham's clientele also includes Tallulah Bankhead, Will Rogers' daughter Mary, Billie Burke, G. B. Stern, Branwell Fletcher, Helen Chandler, Somerset Maugham and O. yes, the No. 1 man-about-town of Gallipoli, O., Frank R. Vance.

One of the publicity ladies for a publishing house, probably fled up blurring the handwork of others so extravagantly, has stepped out and turned in a novel herself. A first literary shot plinking the gong. She is Ramona Herdman, an upstate girl with a Syracuse, N. Y., newspaper experience when she joined the ballyhoo brigade at Harper's. Her book is "A Time for Love." About a newspaperman who became a magazine editor and tried to keep up with being a father, husband, lover and son along with his drinking. Personal opinion: The best trial performance of a novelist in five years.

I was wondering today what happened to the beret, once so swanky and now as passe as the celluloid rosebud in the lapel. The first beret I ever saw was worn by Byron Chandler, on shipboard, during his millionaire kid days when he was always jumping the gun a bit on fashion. He also carried the first swagger stick I ever saw.

A delightful little old man in our neighborhood at 80 is spruce and, although quite deaf, larkish. I noticed he was without his usual escort, a paid companion, today. I looked questioningly. "Slipped my leash," he cackled. And added: "I'm headed for Minsky's." Bless him!

Present indications are that public improvements which involve large expenditures on the part of the city will be curtailed severely in the future, or at least until some relief is afforded for the financial condition of the city.

A number of lofty poplars which for many years have stood along the east side of Lundy st., near East Fourth st., are being removed by the city service department because they have been gradually growing out over the street and automobiles driving close to the curb strike them in passing.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Quinsy

To the average person quinsy sore throat is some sort of infection of the throat. Few associate it with the tonsils. In reality it is a painful infection of the tonsil.

"Quinsy sore throat" is caused by an infection of the tonsils. The germ enters the tissues, producing infection with the formation of pus. This leads to the development of an abscess.

The victim of quinsy is likely, first, to complain of a slight feeling of chilliness, or there may be a bad chill. This is followed by fever. Within a few hours the patient notices pain and swelling on one side of the throat.

These symptoms may persist for several days. Then there is difficulty in opening the mouth. The pain increases in severity and is made much worse by talking and swallowing.

Requires Incision

The breath has an unpleasant odor. Digestive disturbances, such as nausea and heartburn, add to the misery. Appetite disappears and there is a refusal to eat solid food and perhaps even liquids are rejected.

At times there is pain or a throbbing sensation in the ear on the affected side. This is not due to any actual infection of the ear but is a symptom known as "referred" or "reflex" pain. It is really caused by the swelling and congestion of the throat.

Quinsy sore throat requires an incision of the part, with drainage of the accumulated pus. On this account, in most cases it is best to have the patient removed to a hospital. Here constant care can be given to promote the comfort of the sufferer and to hasten recovery.

If operation is advised do not delay. Bear in mind that the whole body suffers by reason of the absorption of the pus. It should be gotten rid of promptly.

Constant Menace

This leads me to say that, even in the absence of marked inflammation, when the tonsils have pockets of infection, they are capable of carrying germs to other parts of the body. This is a menace which must never be overlooked. Neglect to get rid of the local trouble may lead to infection of the joints and muscles of the body. The gravest danger is the possibility that the heart may become involved.

Do not be misled by the temporary relief of the pain in quinsy sore throat which occurs if the abscess ruptures by itself. Unfortunately the infection is still present and sooner or later the abscess will reform. Repeated attacks are sure to occur unless their is complete drainage.

Radiophoto of German Troops Entering Cologne

This radiophoto shows German troops, armed and steel-helmeted, entering Cologne, key city on the Rhine, in direct violation of the Versailles treaty which demilitarized an extensive section of the German frontier bordering French territory. The photo was rushed to Berlin, telephoned to London, and radioted to United States. Sanctions may be imposed on Germany by the league.

Theater Attractions

Tonight and tomorrow at the State theater "The Prisoner of Shark Island" will be shown, starring Warner Baxter. This film is said to be well directed, well acted and generally regarded as one of the better pictures. With Baxter in the cast are Gloria Stuart, O. P. Heggie and Arthur Byron.

Condemned To Island Baxter plays Dr. Samuel Alexander Mudd, Maryland physician, condemned as one of the Lincoln conspirators. The drama opens after the Civil war with the assassination of President Lincoln. John Wilkes Booth, whose leg was broken in the escape, flees into Maryland and forces the country doctor to give him aid. When this is discovered the fury of the nation sends the innocent doctor to Fort Jefferson, ghost haunted federal prison on an island near the Gulf of Florida, guarded by a shark infested moat, thus the title, "Prisoner of Shark Island."

In prison Baxter is hated by fellow prisoners and by the men who guard him. He is beaten, starved and chained to his cell. His spirit rebels, not only at his own treatment but at the general degradation of all the men. Baxter attempts escape, almost succeeds, only to be brought back to the prison and solitary confinement.

Warner Baxter star of "The Prisoner of Shark Island" showing at the State tonight and tomorrow.

When an epidemic of yellow fever breaks out in the prison and the doctors are ill with it, Baxter is taken out of solitary and put to work curing the sick. This is Baxter's opportunity to again be a man. He works to save the lives of rebellious soldiers, forces men to bring him supplies and finally wins, not only the gratitude of the men of Shark Island, but freedom for himself, freedom to return to his wife, Gloria Stuart, and his children.

The Grand offers a western tonight and tomorrow. "Westward

Ho" stars John Wayne, who heads a band of "Singing Riders," intent on finding a gang of desperadoes who murdered his family. Sheila Mannors plays opposite the popular western star.

The sorority is a philanthropic organization, designed to serve the best interests of the community. Its sponsors point out. The recent party was a preliminary step toward obtaining a charter from the organization, a national group with headquarters in Indianapolis. The sorority today extended its thanks to those who aided in the event by donating prizes.

The sorority is planning a dance, to be held soon. The date for the affair will be announced later.

"America now summons us to a program of peace," Murphy said. "It summons us to child welfare activity, a safety program for streets and highways, care of disabled veterans and their widows and orphans, community service and a national defense program and neutrality laws."

Murphy warned the veterans against unwise spending of bonus money. "Spending on things of permanent nature or for debts is reasonable," he said. "But let us remember the hard times and when it is gone, it is gone for good."

THIS NATURAL FOOD GENTLY REGULATES YOUR SYSTEM

Furnishes Needed "Bulk" for Regular Habits

Your doctor will tell you that keeping healthy depends far more on proper diet than on drugs, that common constipation is usually due to insufficient "bulk" in meals, and that patent medicines give you only temporary relief.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gently acting "bulk" which corrects the cause of common constipation. This "bulk" takes up moisture, forming a soft mass which helps to cleanse the system.

ALL-BRAN gives your body the regular internal exercise it needs to prevent sluggishness. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

Studies on normal men and women have shown that this delicious cereal is perfectly satisfactory. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Consult your doctor if you do not gain relief this way. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SPANISH TRACE ARMS TO REICH

Claim Assassin's Weapons Were Manufactured In Germany

By ALEXANDER UHL
Associated Press Foreign Staff
(By Associated Press)
MADRID, March 13. — Spain's not-voiced officials, stepping in to protect British engineers against threats of violence to "foreigners", today traced assassin's arms they said were made in Germany.
Authorities, it was understood assured the British embassy of protection for English engineers working on the Zafra railway in Huelva Province.
Extremists had threatened the engineers with violence unless they fled the country, picketing the Zafra offices and shouting: "Foreigners work in Spain while Spanish engineers starve!"
The director of public safety said the police had obtained a list of persons possessing arms such as were used in yesterday's attempt to kill Luis Jimenez Asua, chamber of deputies leader and socialist criminal attorney.
The arms, they said, were manufactured in the Reich. Jimenez escaped unhurt, but his police bodyguard was killed and seven fascists arrested.
While nuns and police fled from convents, the targets of repeated attacks in the rioting which has claimed scores of lives since the February 16 elections, gendarmes arrested a Communist for attempting to burn the Salvadore church in the heart of Madrid.
They said he was the same man arrested three years ago for bombing the Portuguese embassy.
Fascists who tried to storm Premier Manuel Tzana's office were beaten off.

'I Won't Dance' Says Agile Fred Astaire To Hollywood Boss
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 13.—Fred Astaire's stand in his contract dispute with R. K. O. studio read today like the title of his next scheduled movie—"I Won't Dance."
"I don't know whether the outcome will be that I leave the studio or not," said the agile dancing star, the latest of several actors to disagree with their bosses.
Film circles discussed three possible causes of dispute between Astaire and the company which has featured him with Ginger Rogers, Texas red-head, in recent productions.
1. More money than his past $250,000 earnings in five movies.
2. Solo starring.
3. Fewer pictures per year.
But Astaire, terming "ridiculous" a New York newspaper's report which had him refusing an offer of $1,000,000 for four pictures, said the disagreement had "nothing whatever to do with salary."
He accused the studio of contract violations, but declined to describe their nature.

DISPUTES OVER DELEGATES ENDS

Agreements Reached in Two Choices On Democratic Slate

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, March 13. — With agreements reached in two major disputes over delegates to the Democratic national convention, Charles West, undersecretary of the interior and white house emissary, hastened back to Columbus today to direct last-minute operations before the 6:30 p. m. filing deadline.

A settlement with the Cleveland Democratic organization, followed by a scramble late last night to locate petition blanks which would enable delegates here to file, climaxed a week of almost ceaseless activity by the Roosevelt contact man.

As the deadline approached a flurry of action in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination held politicians tense and started a flood of rumors of possible late developments.

West made no announcements of the outcome of the Cleveland dispute, but W. B. Gongwer, Cuyahoga county Democratic leader, said "we met Mr. West in a spirit of compromise."

Political sources said that under the agreement the Cleveland Democratic scanning committee withdrew its demand that Gongwer be a Roosevelt delegate, while the committee was given the right to name all six of the Cleveland delegates and the alternates.

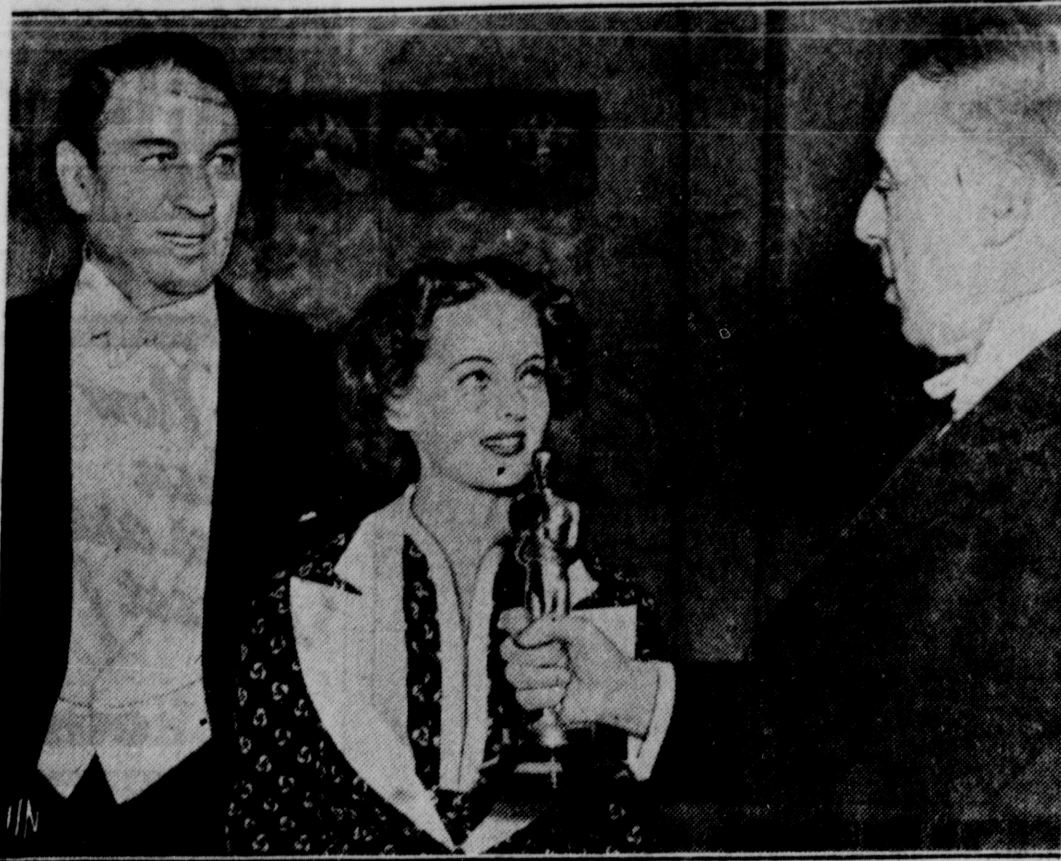

A Franklin county dispute was compromised, a high authority said, with choice of Walter F. Heer and Allen Rowe as delegates. The former would represent the "regular" party organization friendly to Gov. Martin L. Davey, while the latter would act for the Congressmen Arthur Lamneck forces.

West said tentative plans called for a slate of 12 delegates-at-large to the convention with representation equally divided between Davey and Roosevelt backers.

A late effort to obtain petitions for State Senator Marvin Harrison in the Democratic gubernatorial race was under way.

Harrison told friends he intended to file if Congressman-at-large

"Best Performance" Awards Given Stars

David Wark Griffith, veteran motion picture producer, awards Bette Davis the gold statuette emblematic of the best performance in a screen play during 1935, at Hollywood, Calif. Miss Davis was given the award, made annually by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, for her performance in "Dangerous." Victor McLaglen, left, received a similar award for his work in "The Informant."

Stephen M. Young withdrew from the race, to make certain that Gov. Davey would be opposed.

Young reiterated last night that "I will be the next governor of Ohio." He and West were to confer today.

ITALY'S AFRICAN ARMIES MARCH

Tribesmen of Galla Borano Conduct "Victorious Actions" For Italy In Ethiopia

(By Associated Press)
ROME, March 13.—Italy's African armies are on the march in both northern and southern Ethiopia, Marshal Pietro Badoglio reported today, with warplanes combating the territory between Neghelli and Addis Ababa.

The tribesmen of Galla Borano, on the southern front, are conducting "victorious actions" for Italy, Marshal Badoglio wireless.

"The Eritrean front is in movement," the marshal's communique said.

Gen. Rodolfo Graziani's motorized southern columns, press reports said, were moving up the valley of the Webbe Shihelo through Ogaden province toward Danane, Daga and Medo. The drive was expected to go toward Jijiga, one of the principal southern cities.

Intense aerial bombardments were reported on the route of the southern army.

The northern offensive, informed sources said, would move toward Quorom, 30 miles south of the present main northern lines at Amba Alaji.

HOME MAKING HELPS

and solid comfort are the keynotes of the furnishings and appointments of the triple-insulation demonstration house recently erected in a Westchester suburb near New York City.

A previous article outlined the salient features of the house designed for the average house owner, features that have attracted much attention. A budget was drawn up when furnishing the eight rooms and this was maintained, although designed to include lamps, paintings, mirrors, rugs and carpets as well as the furniture, all supplied by a furniture house that one usually associates with antiques and the finest of contemporary furniture. And so, although the total outlay was within $3,500, there is a beautiful dignity, a fine feeling for line and color apparent right through the scheme.

Colorful wallpaper gives a cheerful note to the main hall with its white banisters and graceful staircase. To the right is the big living room with three walls papered in a delicate blue-green, and the fourth and fireplace wall in white paneling. The carpet is spruce green, the eggshell chintz curtains have a Japanese pattern in fawn, light rust and green. One easy chair is done to match the curtains, one is in green damask, the other in red damask, bookcases and secretary are mahogany and there are white couches in lamps and other accessories. The furniture subscribes to eighteenth century design and was made in the workrooms of the store that supplied it.

Charming Rooms

The dining room has white wallpaper with a design of green leaves, a bright foil for the mahogany furniture. The geranium shades in the rug are picked up for the more chair seats. The triple window bay gives a spacious air to the room, the windows having green curtains to match the green of the wallpaper design.

On the first floor is a grand, little extra room, grand because it has a bath adjacent, and can double as study, den, library, office, guest or maid's room. This is done with chocolate brown walls and curtains, with light wood furniture. Cream trim and lines lift up the dark brown wall and fit in with the modern feel of this room.

The master bedroom is charming with its walls papered in blue striped with gray and silver, its bright, cherry-red carpet and the red and white chintz on the chaise longue. Bedspreads of white moire, glass curtains of white point d'esprit, and white lamps and shades give a dainty touch. The dressing room repeats the pretty color scheme and the dressing table has skirts of the red and white chintz used for the chaise longue.

Another bedroom has maple furniture and plenty of cheerful red in the form of red and white wallpaper, red and white candlewick spread and a plaid chair in red, white and brown. An oval hooked rug carries out this simple but effective scheme of this room, which has snowy white organdy criss-cross curtains at each of its two windows.

ONE OF the sign posts of prosperity, glorification of the kitchen is the theme of the spring housewares show put on by manufacturers at the Merchandise Mart and of intense interest to all women.

This writer enjoyed so much the continued combination of the pretty with the practical, a dominating characteristic that is sweeping the world. The new pastel colored enamel ware is a typical example of this trend. Then a line of vitrified china electrical appliances strikes a new note in breakfast table beauty. Included in this series are toasters, grills, waffle irons, percolators, tea pots, cream and sugar sets, the decoration being in several patterns and lovely colors.

Cooking devices that do everything but think for the housewife will presently be on the retail market. Of special interest are the many heat regulated devices which make it possible for the housewife to set an indicator and leave the rest to electrical science. Among them are an electric percolator with dial device for weak, medium or strong coffee; a heat regulated frying pan guaranteed not to scorch or burn food; an electric toaster which will cook an entire loaf, the airtight compartments

Pattern Gives Smart Informal Air

Smart simplicity's the thing for sports and gadabout! Lovely Marian Marsh, Columbia player, takes a bit of relaxation in a charming tailored frock of plaid that uses only dark belt and buttons for its trimming. It's the kind of frock you'll reach for again and again for informal wear this spring and summer! Our Anne Adams brings you a pattern for this model that's easy to make—sleeves and yoke in one, and pockets an ornamental make-believe. You can have sleeves long or short—the pattern shows how. You can prove this frock equally charming in plaid or check cotton, monotone linen or crash, pastel crepe or the silk in a tiny print. This is pattern X2692—available in sizes 12 to 20 and 30 to 42. Size 16 requires 3 3/4 yards 36-inch fabric.

Send 15c today for pattern X2692 to The Salem News Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York, N. Y.

protecting the food from intermingled aromas, and waffle iron and toasters which are equipped with automatic heat regulators.

One appliance that delights everyone is an electric platter to keep food warm when it is being served. Hailed as an outstanding device among the many evolved for the happiness of the 1936 housewife, this platter is so contrived that it will keep food piping hot without burning or overcooking.

Enamelware has reached new decorative heights and several manufacturers are introducing low-priced lines in complete kitchen equipment making ensembling an easy matter.

Marvelous Aids

Chromium and stainless steel ware shows the influence of the modernistic in streamlined designs. Kettles, frying pans and saucepans all being streamlined and the use of solid maple and walnut detachable handles gives a new beauty to such equipment. We were much taken with one line which shows a new type of kitchen material used for shelf coverings, curtains, and is combined with metal for canister sets, bread and flour boxes and condiment sets.

We think that we have told you enough to make you buying-minded when it comes to equipment for the kitchen and we know that the 1936 crop of brides will find housekeeping not a chore, but a delightful occupation, with the marvelous aids soon to be on display in stores all over the country.

The Home Kitchen

By Jeannette Young Norton

NOW IS the time for all good jams, jellies and marmalades to come to the aid of the menu. For as the holidays come to an end and the winter wends its course, appetites get fed up by not wanting to feed upon the same old dishes.

But if there's a batch of jam and such on the pantry shelf then you'll find it easy to give a new lure and tang to foods. A spoonful of jelly in the French dressing will make a plain salad a party dish. The delicate flavor of mint or currant jelly with a leg of lamb is an old story, but currant jelly melted right into the pan with lamb gravy is meeting the meat problem in a new way. And, until you've tried the golden banana spread with jam or marmalade and rolled in peanuts, you just haven't enjoyed the ultimate in flavors. So poach on your own preserves and enjoy your menu in a jam.

Lamb and Jelly

For fried lamb and currant jelly, cut one and a half pounds of lamb steak young, tender meat into one-inch pieces. Season and fry in four tablespoons butter until meat is brown and tender. Push to one side of pan. Add one glass of currant jelly and melt in meat sauce. Place hot rice in center of platter. Place hot lamb around the rice. Pour hot sauce over the rice and serve at once. This makes eight servings.

McIntosh marmalade pudding is easily made and as good as can be. We call it "McIntosh" because we have discovered that this member of the great apple family makes a smooth, pink, apple sauce that needs no straining. So we combine two cups unsweetened apple sauce, our tablespoons sugar and one-third of a cup of orange marmalade. Then fold in half cup of cream, whipped. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze for about two hours, or until firm.

For a delightful sandwich spread one slice of lightly-buttered bread with peanut butter. Cover with a layer of chopped dates. Spread a second slice of buttered bread with currant jelly and put slices together in pairs. Half cup each of peanut butter and currant jelly and half package dates will yield enough for one dozen sandwiches.

BERKELEY, Cal.—A marked increase in adult educational enrollment is attributed by University of California authorities purely to improved economic conditions. Adult education began falling off in 1929 at the University, but has gained 33 per cent the past year.

King Edward VIII Before 'Mike'

King Edward VIII, shown above before the microphone in the studio of the British Broadcasting Co. at London, signaled a new democratic note for royalty by addressing citizens of his world empire as "fellow men" instead of "my subjects", the phrase common to monarchy in the past. His address was devoted largely to a eulogy of his late father.

RANKS OF OHIO G.A.R. DWINDLE

Only Three Members Remain In Salem Treas-cott Post

the rapid shrinkage of the ranks. On Dec. 31, 1934, the national G. A. R. numbered 7,807. Miss Lucas said that when all reports were in the total at the end of 1935 probably would be about 5,000.

Greatest decline in the Ohio membership occurred between 1890 and 1900, when enrollment dropped from 49,011 to 26,627. In 1910 the membership was 20,812, in 1920 it was 10,241, and only 1,540 in 1930. The average age of surviving members is 92.

Nevertheless, the grand army is planning its annual encampment at Cleveland the week of June 21, and the national encampment at Washington in September.

National Officers

Two Ohioans are national officers and a third is on the national administrative council. They are Dr. A. B. Garrett, of Galipolis, surgeon general; the Rev. J. King Gibson, of Dayton, chaplain-in-chief; and Major Emmet F. Taggart, of Akron, councilman.

Indicative of the decimated ranks of the G. A. R. Miss Lucas said, is a letter she received from Joseph T. Anderson of Cincinnati.

"One by one we pass away," he wrote, "and greet those who have passed on before us. The old vets who survive are all up in the eighties and nineties. I am in my ninety-first year and I have seen them come and go since enrolling in the George H. Thomas post in August, 1887."

"I can remember when our post's rolls numbered 1,800 members and included some of the most distinguished and prominent men in the state—governors, congressmen, clergymen, bankers, doctors and lawyers—but today we must number only 17."

"Our funds also are diminishing—the most of our disbursements are for funeral expenses."

BRUNO RETAINS HOPE OF RESCUE

Paces Cell After Passing Last
Deadline for Possible
Reprieve

(By Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., March 13.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, his last reprieve deadline passed at midnight last night, paced his silent cell today still convinced he would not die for the kidnap-slaying of the Lindbergh baby.

Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, who stayed Hauptmann's execution on January 17, announced yesterday that he does not intend to grant a new reprieve, that, in fact, he has no legal power to do so now.

At almost the same moment, Hauptmann told his chief counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher, he is confident he will somehow win a new reprieve. Fisher did not tell him of Hoffman's announcement.

The governor, despite his announcement, continued his investigation today of the Lindbergh crime, which, he has said, he believes is not completely solved.

In sharp contrast to Hauptmann's hopeful attitude, Charles Zied, the obscure Philadelphia thug condemned to die in the electric chair the same night as Hauptmann three weeks hence, was resigned to his fate.

Hauptmann's execution date was set for the week of March 30; Zied's was placed for the same week and Warden Kimberling settled on a double execution.

WE BREAK TO NORTHEASTERN OHIO QUINTETS

Representatives To State Tourney Won't Have To Play Each Other

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, March 13.—Northwestern district Class "A" High school basketball teams, which met in the first round of the tournament the last five years, get a better "break" in the classic.

Ed Townsend, commissioner of school athletics, "fixed" it to be for the annual fixture. Although the Northeastern district have five of the 16 Class "A" representatives in the meet, it's all so they won't collide until the second round at the earliest.

The pairings will be made at 10 Monday in Commissioner Townsend's office. There will be brackets of four teams each, the Northeastern district will be first, the first four being in different brackets. The Northeastern team must go a bracket with one of the others, but will be placed so that does not meet a district foe in first game.

Draw First
The Northwestern district, with entrants, will then draw for and gain one in each bracket. The Northwestern will then be into three separate brackets, the other districts will "grab" the remaining berths.

Drawings in Class B will be made the same manner, care being taken to prevent teams from the district from meeting in the round.

The opening round Class B games will be played Thursday, starting at 1 p. m., at the Ohio state university gymnasium. Friday and Saturday Class B contests will be shifted to the State Fairgrounds Coliseum, where all Class games will be played.

The state tournament is scheduled Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 19, 20 and 21.

Bits of Sports In Ohio Circles

BY FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Over in Logan county.... at Bellefontaine.... when they sell real estate they wrap it up and deliver it.

The Indian Heights golf course there.... a municipal layout.... folded up. Its greens were the boast of the town.... but not enough customers were using them.

The greens will see plenty of service now, however. Five of them have been sold.... One has already been shipped to the Meadowbrook club in Charleston, W. Va., and the other four are ready to deliver to the Dayton country club.

Now all that's left of the old course is four greens.... the other equipment having been disposed of.

Anyone want to buy some slightly used fairways.... or some much-used rough?

Paul Halleck, star Ohio university shot putter and football player.... is braving the Friday the 13th jinx today.

Last year Don Elser of Notre Dame bested Paul by one inch.... in the central intercollegiate track and field meet.... in the shot put.

But Paul.... with a few extra pounds on his frame.... is out in South Bend today to try to upset Elser and the jinx at the same time.

They set peculiar basketball records up at Mt. Union.... for in addition to finishing second in the Ohio conference race.... the Mounts played more basketball in 17 games this year.... than in 18 contests last season.

Can't be done? Listen!

In the 17 games this season the ball was put in play.... under the basket after successful free throws.... a total of 211 times. The officials estimate each play like that.... eliminating the center jump.... saves 10 seconds. That makes 310 seconds.... or 51 minutes and 50 seconds.... saved.

Therefore, the actual time played was almost 52 minutes more than a 17-game schedule called for.... and this year.... in 17 games.... the Mounts actually played 11 minutes and 50 seconds more than they did in 18 games last season.

Harry Smith.... president of the Ohio State baseball league.... is having troubles.... at Mansfield.

Local backers of the club have withdrawn.... leaving the franchise problem up in the air.... and the makeup of the circuit in doubt.

Smith is gazing fondly at the Cleveland Indians.... hoping they will toss a life line to Mansfield.... but even Smith believes Mansfield will have to provide part of the ante.

Mansfield.... situated in the heart of Ohio loop territory.... is the key city of the league.... and its withdrawal may mean the collapse of the circuit.

And if that happens.... the chances are Canton will become a member of the "Mad-Atlantic" instead of the Ohio league.

A week from today.... state High School basketball tourney. A month from today.... big league baseball. Eight months from today.... another Friday the 13th. A year from today.... probably snow.

Blue Bloods Enter Ohio Field Trials

COLUMBUS, March 13.—Canine blue bloods of the middle west, officers of the Central Ohio Field trial club said today, will take part in the club's annual spring trials March 20, 21 and 22.

Greenberg Still Sitting Home

Hank Greenberg
When this picture was taken Hank Greenberg, slugging first sacker of the world champion Detroit Tigers and No. 1 holdout, was making good his threat to "sit at home and look out the window" of his New York home if his salary demands are not met.

EIGHT CROWNED CHAMPIONS OF LEGION EVENT

Two Youngstown Boxers Among Winners In Tournament

AKRON, March 13.—Two Xenia youths, two from Youngstown and one each from Canton, Ada, Elyria and Mantua were the Ohio American Legion's boxing champions today. About 40 entrants started in the annual tournament.

John Thomas, 202, of Xenia, won the heavyweight title after a slashing, three-round bout with Willie Roberts, 218, Akron. Thomas felled his opponent just as the bell sounded in the third round after battering the Akronite to the ropes several times earlier.

Roberts had knocked out Joe Sur of Campbell in the first round of the semi-finals.

Wins 118-Pound Title
George Davis of Youngstown captured the championship of the 118-pound division by trouncing Pete Altizer of Canal Winchester, who had defeated T. Jones of Lima earlier in the tournament.

It was Davis' third bout of the evening.

Gussie Smallwood of Elyria took the 126 pound title by outpointing Sam Tormanna of Akron, a favorite by virtue of his knockout over Lawrence Wick of Chattanooga, O.

The five other champions are: 112 pound division—Rudy Brononi, Canton, won decision from Emmeter Trinidad, Akron, three rounds.

135—Frank Cannell, Xenia, won decision from John Schadt, Akron, three rounds.

147—Cassimir Niewiadome, Ada, won decision from Herschel Tollevor, Portsmouth, three rounds.

160—Sheldon Bell, Youngstown, won decision from Jim Price, Akron, three rounds.

175—Billy Korfelin, Mantua, won decision from E. Banik, Portsmouth, three rounds.

MILLER NAMED EDWARDS' AID

Will Coach Western Reserve Freshman Gridders

CLEVELAND, March 13.—Roy Miller, who was a team mate of Bill Edwards, Western Reserve coach, at Massillon High and Wittenberg college, has been appointed Western Reserve freshman football coach.

Miller coached at Hillsboro High and then took the position Edwards vacated as coach at Fostoria High. Edwards left to come to Reserve under the late Sam Williams. Miller steps into the position vacated by Edwards when the latter became head coach.

Miller is expected to come here for spring football practice, starting March 23.

Buckeye Squads Vie In Four Loop Meets

COLUMBUS, March 13.—Four Ohio State university squads were in the west today to participate in Big Ten meets which practically will end the indoor season.

Minus its captain and star, Jesse Owens, the track team had nine men entered in the Western conference indoor meet at Chicago.

Buckeye swimmers competed at Minnesota, fencers at Chicago, and wrestlers at Iowa.

What! No Championship This Year!

ALLIANCE, March 13—When an Ohio college graduates its entire championship basketball team there is always a lot of news value in the story, but when Mount Union graduates a senior team that doesn't hold a championship—that's news.

In the last eleven years three all-senior teams have won the Ohio conference title for Robt. D. Wright at Mount Union. This year's team, runner-up in the conference, is Mount Union's first all-senior team to graduate without having won an Ohio conference title.

Lose Eight Men
Back in 1926, Wright's first year at Mount Union, the Methodists breezed through the Ohio conference for an undefeated season and their third consecutive title. Eight men graduated in June that year.

With five seniors making up its team in 1929 Mount Union stormed the Ohio conference for another title, winning fifteen consecutive games after dropping their opener.

In 1932 Mount Union graduated seven basketball players and lost one of its greatest basketball teams of all time. After annexing the conference crown as juniors in 1931 this team came back in 1932 to win the title again with sixteen.

This year the fourth senior team will graduate at Mount Union since Bob Wright took over the reins eleven years ago. Although not a title holding team, the aggregation has established one of the state's best records in the last three years.

What is believed to be the highest single game team score ever rolled on the Masonic Temple alleys was brought to light yesterday by Bob Wright, veteran southern bowler.

The score, a 1,081, was recorded by a five-man Mason team during the 1933-34 season. And incidentally, Wright points out, three members of the quintet that rolled the all-high single game score were on the Mason team which Tuesday night set a new high single game mark for the Class A city league.

Wright, himself, is one of the three while the others are Joe Reese, Earl Beardmore and Charles Wernet were the fourth and fifth men on the Mason quintet of high-score fame.

Bill Aldom and Ted Jewell filled out the team which set the new Class A league high of 1018 Tuesday night.

So to speak, here's "good luck" to the Mullins Foremen club kglers, who will try their wares in the American Bowling Congress tournament over the weekend.

Little heard-of teams have been known to "get hot" in the A. B. C. and finish in the money.

Basketball is slowly beginning to take a back seat in sports circles.... but there's still some hardwood activity in these parts that is due recognition.... At the High school gym three nights out of each week, Lew Smith, head Quaker football coach carries on

JINX DAY FOR A. B. C. ENTRIES

64 Catholic Teams Take To Drives Today In National Event

INDIANAPOLIS, March 13.—Bowlers have their quirks of temperament and some of them are woefully superstitious.

This being Friday the 13th it augurs not well for the serenity that has marked the American Bowling Congress tourney as it nears the close of the first week's competition.

So with fingers crossed on this original jinx day, the members of 64 Catholic teams will take to the drives.

The best scoring of the tourney to date last night produced a new five-man leader. The Indianapolis News team not only outrolled all other booster quintets to date, but made a strong bid for a cut on the regular prize fund with a 2,779 total.

PROSPECTS ARE GOOD FOR OHIO WESLEYAN NINE

Two Veteran Pitchers On Team Which Has Started Drills

DELAWARE, March 13.—For the first time in several years, Ohio Wesleyan university's baseball prospects are bright. Coach Ray Detrick opened practice outdoors this week, only to be chased under cover again by snow and cold weather.

Art Thomas of Amherst, right hander, and Dick Cameron, East-Port, Me., southpaw, are veteran hurlers back from the 1935 campaign. Glen Stover of Findlay, veteran catcher, is opposed by Lou Banks, Oak Park, Ill., sophomore.

Fixture At Third
Joe Whalen of Cleveland, ineligible last season, is a third base fixture. Ernie Talos of Cleveland will be at shortstop, Jimmy Morgan of Denison at second, and Don McWhorter of Toledo at first.

Two sophomores, Roger Lockwood and Fred Schroeder, both of Cleveland, are expected to team up with Johnny McAdams of Urbana in the outfield. A dozen others are fighting for berths, but Detrick seems to have his lineup all set.

The Bishop schedule:
April 3 and 4—At West Virginia university; April 10—Michigan; April 15—Ohio U.; April 18—Oberlin; April 24—at Dayton; May 1—at Ohio university; May 2—at Marshall; May 7—at Wittenberg; May 8—Cincinnati; May 12—Miami; May 15—Marshall; May 16—Wittenberg; May 21—at Miami; May 25—at Cincinnati; June 6—Dayton.

Perhaps nowhere in the United States is it more obvious that bowling is becoming a major sport than right here in Salem, where interest in kegling zoomed to a new peak this year.... According to a nation-wide survey made for Collier's by Robert Harron, bowling has become winter's biggest sport.... Harron relates.... how the sport has progressed from the time "Uncle Joe Thum", who is acclaimed the "Father of American Bowling", first built two alleys in the basement of his restaurant.... to the present day when from eight to ten million people are addicts of the game.

Of the increased interest in the game, Harron writes:
"In the United States there are now about 10,000 bowling academies, clubs, schools and parish houses where you may bowl on alleys conforming to the requirements of the A. B. C.... There are between 30,000 and 40,000 individual alleys.... There are about eight million bowlers, with more than 300,000 actively registered members of the American Bowling Congress, eligible for A. B. C. competition."

"Only men bowl in the A. B. C. tournament.... But that doesn't mean that bowling is not in these days a woman's sport, as well.... Women have discovered that bowling gives one that aliveness.... Hundreds of thousands of women are bowling for health in this country."

"The women insist that the game is good for them because the thumb and fingers used to grip the ball invariably tire before the more fundamental muscles of back, shoulders and legs have a chance to become exhausted.... Thus there is a natural check on undue enthusiasm and the penalties thereof are avoided.... Most women, incidentally, use an eight-pound ball of a composition lighter than the mineralite sphere used by men."

"Probably the greatest expert on the game from a theoretical point of view, either man or woman, is Mrs. Floretta McCutcheon of Pueblo, Colo.... She took up bowling at the age of 33 on advice of her physician to combat nervous trouble with a hobby."

In concluding, Harron says, "The absence of the amateur-professional angle is the real reason why bowling has not become an Olympic sport."

Face Youngstown Saxons In First Contest Of Title Series At Hi School Gym

Undefeated Salem Saxon Lassies Will Also Begin Title Play With Homestead, Winner of Eastern Division Crown

Champions of the western division of the Saxon league, the Salem Saxons open their campaign for the loop title when they meet Youngstown, eastern division winner, in the first game of the championship series at Salem High school gym tomorrow night.

This is the second consecutive season that both Salem and Youngstown have won their respective divisions and engaged in the title play. Salem won the series last year.

The undefeated Salem Saxons, who marched through nine games without suffering a set back to gain the western division girls' crown, also tomorrow night begin a championship series with Homestead, title-holder of the eastern side of the league.

Win Over Nine Foes
In winning the western division championship, Coach Pete Sanders' Salem lassies bowled over nine of their ten opponents and also won three contests by forfeit. The Sandersmen hold victories over Lorain, twice, Cleveland East, twice, Cleveland West, twice, Homestead, Farrell and Canton. They won by forfeit from Elwood City, Youngstown and New Castle.

An early season defeat handed them by Canton, was the only reverse the Sandersmen received in league competition during the regular season.

Youngstown won 10 and lost one game to gain the eastern division championship.

If the Salem lassies are in top form tomorrow night, there is every reason to believe they will take Youngstown into camp without much trouble. The floor combination of Mike and Wally Linder, Bill Pauline, Earl Zelle and Homer Detwiler or Mat Wagner is perhaps the best in the Saxon league and one of the finest ever turned out by the local Saxons.

Have Defeated Homestead
The unbeaten Salem lassies have already this season mastered the Homestead girls, whom they will meet in the first game of a championship series tomorrow night.

The Salem lassies have not encountered stiff opposition in any of their games to date and have run up large scores on practically all of their opponents. Homestead was perhaps the toughest team the local lassies faced during the season.

Anne Zelle is the key-girl and sparkplug of the local lassies' high-scoring machine. Miss Zelle has been outstanding in each of the Salem girls' nine victories.

The girls' game will start off the championship program at 7 tomorrow night while the boys' game will follow at 8. Joe Kelley, who has refereed the local Saxons' home games since 1928, will handle the officiating.

Japanese Rebellion May Presage Early Outbreak Of Hostilities With Russia

Coup of Tokio Militarists Adds to Tensity of Nippon Situation;
Both Nations Solidify Positions In "War Zone"

By ROBERT LAKE
International Illustrated News
Writer

NEW YORK—Recent uprising in Tokio of the militarist faction and the assassination of several figures of power who had kept the "samurai" in check may presage an early outbreak of war between Japan and Russia.

Reports from all sections of the territory where border patrols of the nations have clashed on numerous recent occasions indicate that another Russo-Japanese war is quite possible within the next ten years.

The principal reason why war is not more imminent is because Japan has not solidified her territorial gains. The U. S. S. R. is primarily occupied with industrial regeneration and its new five-year plan, and both nations are not in a financial position to stand a war. In fact, Japan has not recovered financially from the last Russo-Japanese war.

Both Soviet and Japanese high commands have adopted a policy of solidifying their hold on their present territorial possessions. Thousands of miles of railroad have either been scheduled or are actually under construction by Soviet forces which are pushing their communication lines in two directions, through Outer Mongolia and the province of Sinkiang, and far to the north across Siberia to the sea of Okhotsk where another line is being extended down the coast to connect with the Trans-Siberian line at Blagoveshensk.

Frontier Advanced 1,000 Miles
Nor are the Japanese idle in this respect. Their road building program in the Japanese-created state of Manchoukuo is being carried out on a vast scale, insuring their military machine of adequate communication lines in case of a conflict.

It is estimated that Russia now has upward of 500,000 men, including troops and construction forces, stationed in the "trouble zone" which extends along a far-flung front from Sinkiang to Vladivostok. Back of their operations is the determination to obtain several advantageous outlets on Pacific and to tap the potentially important market in China.

While the Soviet machine has been rolling on toward the Pacific

In the north and in the direction of Tientsin, Japan has struck out from Korea northward and virtually shoved the frontier back 1,000 miles by creation of the vassal state of Manchoukuo which would serve as a bumper in case of an advance by Russia in that direction.

China is Pawn In Struggle
Japan has also anticipated possible invasion from this direction by strategic alliances with neighboring provinces and establishment of so-called autonomous states which are dependent in every way upon Tokio for subsistence. Inner Mongolia has been converted into a Japanese ally by an alliance with Prince Teh

Wang, while Outer Mongolia, a Soviet republic, is definitely pro-Russian in sympathy.

These provinces are not the stakes which would provoke another war, but they figure as factors in the alliances which make up the two sides.

China the pawn in this imperial game between two great powers, finds itself in an almost impossible situation. The Nationalist government, headed by General Chiang Kai-Shek, is helpless to prevent the inroads of Japan into North China. European powers declined to intervene when Japan launched its Manchukuo campaign, so China may find its only hope of self-preservation tion in Russia, an alliance which is laden with dynamite for Japan's neighbor.

It is believed by many that Kai-Shek has actually "sold out" to Japan because of his pro-Nippon activities under the surface which have brought him numerous enemies in China and may cause his downfall.

While Japan, in event of another Russo-Japanese war, would have the advantage of being closer to its principal base of operations, Russia would be able to inflict terrific damage by air raids on Nippon's closely populated country.

SYNOPSIS

In the dining room of a Los Angeles hotel, Juliet Rankin is approached by Denton Terhune, well known San Francisco lawyer. Attracted by Juliet's beauty and aloofness, he asks if he might chat with her. During their conversation, Terhune tells Juliet that she is searching for something more than love and marriage—a breathless something you cannot name. Terhune introduces Mary to Madame Hubert, wealthy beauty expert, whom he describes as the oddest and most interesting woman in Los Angeles, and her handsome, young manager, Thomas O'Hara is worried over the case of a Mrs. Gottlieb who is in a serious condition at the beauty institute due to her heart being too weak to stand the ether administered during a facial operation. Madame Hubert, however, appears unconcerned. She compliments Juliet on her beauty and offers her a position. O'Hara objects strenuously, saying: "Take my advice and keep out of it. I don't like you and you don't like me—we would never get on together."

CHAPTER III

Juliet looked at O'Hara coolly, set her eyes run over his face, his clothes, his hands. All at once she was trembling—but she didn't know why. Never before—except once—had any man affected her that way. Never before.... "I wish you'd tell me, Mr. O'Hara," she asked in a strained voice, "just why it is that you don't like me?"

It was Madame Hubert who answered. "It's because he knows I admire you and he's afraid you'll get his job."

Juliet tried to flash her most dazzling smile. "I'd love to have a whack at Mr. O'Hara's job!" O'Hara got up from his chair. This time he was in earnest and he was leaving.

"Okay with me," he said quietly. "You've got the job right now Miss Rankin. Good night and goodby." His broad departing back plowed his way out of the laughing and dancing throng.

"Don't you worry, my dear," said Madame Hubert placidly to Juliet. "He'll be at his desk by 10 o'clock tomorrow morning—and so will you."

It was at this precise instant—when O'Hara's face was gone—that she remembered him. It all came back with a swirl that tore like a wolf at her heart.... that brought a stifled cry of anguish to her bright seductive lips....

Madame Hubert began making preparations to leave the Cocoanut Grove which, as midnight approached, was getting more crowded and noisier, and smokier and gayer.

"Then it's settled, my dear," she told Juliet. "You're a member of the staff now. We'll discuss salary and all that tomorrow. I'll wait in the lounge while you run upstairs and get your wrap."

"You want me to go somewhere now?"

"We're going back to the Institute," said the older woman with surprising energy. "I don't need much sleep, and you shouldn't at your age. We have a dying woman on our hands—a patient and something has got to be done."

The Madame got to her feet and Juliet saw that she was a mere wafer of a woman, a dry, croaking whisper of humanity. When she was upstairs in her bleak little room Juliet put on her wrap and paused to give her luxuriant hair a quick combing.

That man O'Hara.... Her heart kept twisting and bleeding until she felt dizzy and faint as she continued to think of him. The handsome line of his profile, his black brows, the turn of his head and the swing of his shoulders brought back vividly the old anguish she had hoped to bury forever.

"Okay with me," O'Hara said quietly. "You've got the job right now Miss Rankin. Good night and goodby."

O'Hara was the living image—the breathing photograph—of her dead lover....

Juliet's past life whirled before her like a merry-go-round. Girlhood in an orphanage. The Middlewestern family that adopted her at eighteen. Their death and the inheritance of five thousand dollars that had taken her to Chicago. The wild fling at clothes, theatres, hotels, books, dances, all the dreamed-of luxuries of a hungry-hearted girlhood. Then poverty again. Next, New York, with a few inconsequential bits on the stage and a luckier fling at art modeling.

Love came to her like forked lightning out of the sky—he was an aviator, a stunt flyer, younger than O'Hara but with the same brows, the same eyes, the same strong masculinity of profile.

Nature, by some cruel caprice, had reproduced, physically, in O'Hara even the mannerisms of that boy whose plane crashed him to death five years ago.

The funeral was held on the day they had set for their wedding....

Juliet burned all his photographs and letters. After that nothing mattered. It was no good trying to keep alive something that was dead. A job as social secretary, a better one in an advertising agency, a small stroke of luck with a few stocks.

Grass grew over his grave and the wound in her heart was naught but a scar until O'Hara—tonight—had torn it open.

And now she knew why she had trembled in O'Hara's presence, why those old seething currents had surged once more in her veins. The swift new pain of it was like the onslaught of some dangerous emotional madness.

The aching stress of it was almost more than she could bear, but she knitted her resolution together and tried desperately to obliterate all memory, all sensation.

Somehow it was as though a song began to throb in Juliet's heart. "It's—gorgeous," she breathed. "Thought you'd like it!" chuckled Madame Hubert. "I built it myself out of my own brain."

Juliet could not tear her gaze from the softly luminous Institute. It was a pillar of light, a phosphorescent spire upward flung toward the stars in promise of some mysterious fulfillment. So beautiful it seemed that mist came stealing in to her eyes, leaving her feeling pitifully small and excited.

"Why did you give me this opportunity, Madame Hubert?" she was surprised to hear herself asking. "I'm a stranger—you know absolutely nothing about me."

"Nothing wrong with you, is there?"

"Not that I know of," smiled Juliet. "Nothing, at least, that would interfere with my employment."

"I didn't think so," Madame Hubert told her. "The only danger I see in you is that you might be too attractive to the men. You won't get very far in our business if you start by playing with fire. We shall see. Why did I hire you? Well, we need a beautiful thing like you at the Institute to offset my own ugliness. But that isn't the real reason. I'm taking you on because I have an instinct that amounts to genius for finding the right people when I need them."

The immediate need of Madame Hubert and her Institute was a solution of the Gottlieb case. Perhaps the old woman had clutched at Juliet's fresh mind for that very purpose.

At any rate, she laid the whole dangerous situation before Juliet while they were yet in the limousine.

"O'Hara's brain has gone stale on it. So has mine, and so has Von Guerdon's. All we do is quarrel at each other. Perhaps you'll have a good idea. We shall see."

Facts YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT FLOUR

MOST FLOURS LOOK ALIKE—but if you are an experienced home baker, you know how much difference there can be in flour quality.

Occident Flour means definite improvement in your baking because:

- It gives all of your baking a very definite improvement in flavor.
- It yields a surprisingly large amount of baking from a given amount of flour.
- It prolongs freshness to a point where you won't need to bake so often.

Occident Flour is milled from only the most carefully selected grades of premium wheats. This wheat is thoroughly washed and scoured in pure warm water before the milling starts (means a cleaner flour and more uniform baking results.)

Occident is milled by an exceptionally long process (each kernel of wheat passes through a full mile of grinders, sifters, bolters, etc.)

Naturally, Occident Flour costs a little more—but you'll find that the difference in results is worth more than the difference in price.

Try Occident (money-back guarantee) and see for yourself what a difference it makes.

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

TODAY the general opinion is against war in Europe. New York City presents a piece of time "toy" war—strikebreakers, described by the union as "thugs with heavy clubs," imported from outside cities.

THE REAL estate owners' organization says the strike also has been imported from outside cities, and is now directed by a non-resident.

New Yorkers who thought they wanted to live high up in the sun-shine may find themselves back in the bungalow state, on the ground floor! no elevators necessary.

WHILE EUROPE generally believes the war indefinitely postponed, Lloyds refuses at any price to insure against it, but Lloyds sometimes make mistakes.

Lord Northcliffe offered ten thousand pounds to anybody that would fly across the English Channel. Lloyds insured Northcliffe against such a possibility. Then the Frenchman Blierot collected 10,000 pounds from Lloyds.

LLOYD GEORGE, who certainly saw the inside of the big war, attacks France, saying she is "in no position to point a finger of scorn at Germany on the ground of treaty-breaking. For twelve years or more France has refused to carry out her undertaking to disarm. Even after the Locarno treaty her armaments increased yearly."

DEFENSE SUPPLY bills provide fifty-nine million dollars to pay for five hundred and sixty-five army planes, and twenty-six million dollars for three hundred and thirty-three navy planes, this coming year.

More than $100,000 apiece would seem a big price for a small war fleet. Could not something be done with mass production to produce a huge high-speed air fleet as automobiles are produced? A $700 automobile, if made in small quantities, could cost from three to five thousand dollars.

The United States expects to spend on defense this year, according to the Associated Press, eleven hundred million dollars, more than the nation used to spend in two years for all its expenses. National life, like everything else, is becoming expensive. But it is worth whatever it costs.

HIBBING, MINN., has a new glass schoolhouse, with vacuum glass walls regulating temperature, beautifully colored interiors, movable desks for upper grades, brightly painted furniture for children in kindergarten, and an "electric eye" that turns on more light automatically when the light becomes too dim for the children's eyes, whatever the time of day.

THAT WISE spending of public money a sign of improving civilization, would surprise the old British governor who said before 1776 there had never been a public school in his territory and he "hoped there would not be one for 100 years to come."

In many European cities the conspicuous building is still the old feudal castle or the jail. Here, thank Heaven, it is the high school.

THANKS to airplanes, North and South America will gradually become better acquainted. American private enterprise has connected the two continents efficiently.

In February, just past, the number of international air travelers clearing at Miami alone numbered 4,631, breaking the record.

REGULAR AIR service across the Atlantic between England and this country is announced by Eugene L. Vidal, director of air commerce.

Utilities Heiress and Husband

The former Helen Lee Doherty, daughter of Henry L. Doherty, utilities magnate, is shown with her husband, Theodore Wessel, Danish sportsman, at Managua airport just before taking off on their aerial honeymoon. They were married at the home of President Sacasa of Nicaragua, whose daughter, Maruca (left), was one of the bridesmaids.

Pan-American Airways will each send two planes across the Atlantic every week—via New Foundland and Ireland in summer, the Azores and Bermuda in winter. Only mail and express packages, no passengers will be carried for some time during experiments.

Meanwhile, the new and "biggest-on-earth" Zeppelin is expected to begin regular passenger-carrying flight between Berlin and New York, as has been done for a long time between Berlin and Brazil. Gradually, flying becomes a reality.

INTERNATIONAL News Service says WPA will contribute $9,800 toward the construction of an electrically-heated monkey-house at Memphis, Tenn. Memphis will contribute $4,200 in materials. Uncle Sam's $9,800 will be spent on labor. The monkeys might say:

"If they are not our cousins,

they might as well be, with such kindness."

IN THE business of collecting, crime seems more efficient than local government.

In one gambling raid the city of Miami collected $624 in fines. Five bandits with masks and guns raiding another gambling house at the same time, did better. They collected $18,000, all the winnings of the previous night. The second kind of collecting might discourage gambling.

VANCOUVER, B. C. — Plans to send a mounted troop of Royal Canadian Mounted Police to Los Angeles, to advertise the Golden Jubilee celebrations in Vancouver this summer, are being considered. Under the proposal, the Mounties would march along the Pacific highway.
